Donation to help club.

A former resident has donated part of his 25 year collection of fantasy Sci-Fi books to help the East Grinstead and District Lions Club raise money

Kevin Howson left East Grinstead to live in Caterham-on-the-Hill five years ago and when he recently ran out of space to store his books he decided to give them to a good cause.

He said: "Now that I've read most of them more than once, I'd rather allow others to enjoy them than have them taking up so much space here.."

When the Lions collected the books from, Kevin's Caterham home, they found there were more than 150.

The books will be on sale in Queens Walk, East Grinstead at the Lions' next giant all day book sale on Saturday October 2 from 9am.
